The Best in Business Information

Whether it's a first-year business student writing a paper, an entrepreneur contemplating a new venture, an instructor looking for case studies, or a business professional researching regional market conditions, you'll be prepared with the resources they need—from ProQuest.

Bringing together the best in business information, ProQuest's databases feature everything from scholarly journals, e-books, annual reports, education tools, and market research reports, to continuously updated newswires, video clips, RSS feeds, email alerts, and more.

With features such as ProQuest Smart Search™, which suggests optional related topics, and My Research, which helps users organize their online discoveries and sources, ProQuest business databases help you enhance your users' research experience. And, to put your users on the path to discovery anywhere and anytime, offer them remote access to these resources from your library.

Business information needs vary. Be prepared ... with ProQuest.

The Authority in Business Research Databases

ABI/INFORM®

For more than 35 years, ABI/INFORM has been one of the most comprehensive sources of business information available. This line of databases contains content from thousands of key journals, annual reports, country reports, business dissertations, and business cases.

With ProQuest's unparalleled indexing and the award-winning ProQuest Smart Search feature, ABI/INFORM delivers focused, richly detailed, precise, and accurate results for your users. More than 36 searchable fields and rigorous content classification by business and management experts help professionals and scholars track and understand business and economic conditions, trends, corporate strategies, and management techniques worldwide.

Several editions of this database are available to help you meet the needs of your researchers: ABI/INFORM Complete, ABI/INFORM Global, ABI/INFORM Research, ABI/INFORM Trade & Industry, and ABI/INFORM Dateline.

"...We all can take advantage of a database that not only assists with keeping abreast of the current economic crisis but is vital for tracing historical viewpoints and perspectives."
