

Canadian Newsstand™

Over 170 full-text Canadian newspapers in a single, searchable online collection.

From sophisticated cities, to sprawling prairie ranchland, to rugged coastal fishing towns, Canadian stories are told every day through its newspapers. ProQuest's Canadian Newsstand provides access to over 150 current Canadian newspapers, including The Globe and Mail (1977–present), The Gazette (1985–present), Ottawa Citizen (1985–present), The Province (1989–present) and The Winnipeg Free Press (2006–present).

Canadian Newsstand—updated daily—provides access to the news your patrons need for in-depth research or casual reading, with local, national, and international news, editorials, reviews, obituaries, and more, all in one place. Research the latest news out of Parliament, access sports results at your desktop, or discover letters to the editor expressing the importance of community in Canada's small towns. Find it all in Canadian Newsstand.

Easy to use. Easy to explore.

ProQuest's award-winning search interface makes it easy for patrons to explore Canadian Newsstand. Researchers of all experience levels benefit from:

- Basic and advanced search modes; browse titles and issues; explore topics.
- On-demand translation of a displayed article from English to French, or vice versa.
- On-demand user interface language change, including French.
- Alerts for searches and publications—user-defined email-delivered alerts of new results for a search, or availability of new issues of a selected publication.
- Ability to cross-search Canadian Newsstand with other ProQuest databases like Canadian Business & Current Affairs, ProQuest International Newsstand, and ABI/INFORM®.
- "My Research" tool for tracking and organizing information searches.
- Automatic citation formatting in a choice of styles.
- Open URL linking.

Canadian Newsstand is available in a variety of subscription types to meet your library's needs: Canadian Newsstand Complete (all the newspapers in the collection); Canadian Newsstand Major Dailies (leading national and regional titles); and Regional Packages (New Brunswick, Ontario, Pacific, Prairies, and Quebec).

Register for a FREE TRIAL! Call 800-387-2689, email pqsales@proquest.com, or visit www.proquest.com.